Asgard Dynamics

Medical Training and Clinical Services

Asgard Dynamics deliver a suite of regulated qualifications for medical professionals. We also offer medical provision to support hospitals and GPs, and for events of all sizes.

Medical Professional Courses

Our qualifications are delivered in collaboration with the Resuscitation Council UK and Quasafe, a recognised awarding organisation.

Together, we offer medical qualifications that focus primarily on prehospital care, resuscitation, and associated skills.

We provide our courses to both individuals and groups, whatever the client's clinical grade or experience. So, whether you're a paramedic looking to update your ILS training, or an NHS Trust that needs us to train multiple staff members, we've got you covered.

Based in Hertfordshire, we welcome clients from across the UK to visit us for ALS and EPALS courses. And for ILS, PILS and specialist courses, we're happy to come to you.

Our primary focus is on developing the skills of each individual student, as well as encouraging collaboration with other team members, in order to enhance your organisation.

Not only do we cover the method involved in each medical procedure, but also the reason why that particular technique would be used, and the situations it would be employed in.

Taken from decades of real world and educational experience, our evidence-based techniques help our students to control the stressor response. This allows them to react calmly and decisively in real world situations.

Why choose Asgard Dynamics for medical provision and training?

This is the content for the infographic.

Excellence as standard

Whether you choose to enrol in our expertly led medical training courses or our world-class medical provision, we will provide you with experienced NHS professionals with clear and evidenced portfolios.

Asgard Dynamics don't claim to be the cheapest - true excellence comes at a price. However, we do offer the best value for money possible, whilst investing heavily in our talented staff, cutting-edge equipment, and progressive training.

Robust Governance

Asgard Dynamics aim to make our processes as transparent as possible, and regularly review our practises to ensure we're always abreast of the most up-to-date event-based medicine.

We undertake frequent advanced medical training to maintain our clinical superiority, and we regularly utilise independent clinicians to review our practises. This strong governance promotes the integrity, and ensures the full accountability, of every member of our team.

Client Based Flexibility

Asgard Dynamics offer a truly client centred service. We can deliver bespoke medical training courses at a range of levels, tailored to the precise needs of your organisation, or those of your client.

We are accustomed to working in a variety of settings, working seamlessly with other agencies to ensure tasks are completed efficiently.

Approachability and humility

We pride ourselves on our pragmatic and methodical approach to every request. We believe that the small details are important when it comes to the services we provide. This extremely conscientious approach has led to Asgard Dynamics being hailed as the gold standard in effective medical provision and training.

We strive to form strong relationships with all our clients, with our dedicated managers contactable at all times. So, you'll always be able to get hold of our friendly and knowledgeable team when you need them.

Consultancy

Asgard Dynamics are so much more than a medical training company. We are also a one stop shop for any business that requires assistance with training or event medical cover.

Need us to run a specific course on a topic that's not currently regulated? No problem. Would you like us to review or evaluate your existing clinical governance strategies, conduct a clinical audit, or risk management? We're here to help.

Our vast network of medical, military, professional health and safety and security contacts enables us to provide expert advice on a variety of topics.

In the unlikely event that we cannot help you, we're humble enough to say so, and will endeavour to link you up with someone who can.
